Game Rule Information

Alignment: A god's voice must be within one step of their deity's (that is, it may be one step away on either the lawful–chaotic axis or the good–evil axis, but not both). A god's voice may not be neutral unless their deity is also neutral, in which case they must be neutral.

Hit Die: d8.

Class Features

Weapon and Armor Proficiency: A god's voice is proficient with all simple weapons, light armor, medium armor and shields (except tower shields).

Deity, Domains, and Domain Spells: A voices's god influences their alignment, what magic they can perform, their values, and how others see them. A god's voice initially chooses two domains from among those belonging to their deity. A god's voice can select an alignment domain (Chaos, Evil, Good, or Law) only if their alignment matches that domain.

Each domain gives the god's voice access to a domain spell at each spell level they can cast, from 1st on up, as well as a granted power. The god's voice gets the granted powers of both the domains selected.

At 4th and 10th levels, a god's voice picks additional domains. These are subject to the same restrictions and grant the same benefits of domain powers and accessible spells.

Domains and additional proficiencies: Some domains grant additional proficiencies and class skills as part of their domain powers. These are reproduced below for convenience.

- Animal and Plant domains grant Knowledge (nature) as a class skill.
- Knowledge domain grants all Knowledge skills as class skills, as well as +1 skill point per level that can be spent only on Knowledge skills.
- Travel domain grants Survival as a class skill.
- Trickery domain grants Bluff, Disguise and Hide as class skills.
- War domain grants Armor Proficiency (Heavy) and Weapon Focus with deity's favored weapon. If the deity's favored weapon is martial or exotic, it also grants the corresponding Weapon Proficiency (Martial or Exotic) as well.

Aura (Ex): Voices of gods have particularly powerful alignment auras (see the detect evil spell) for components matching their deity's alignment. For example, a chaotic good voice of a neutral good god has a strong good aura, while a chaotic good voice of a chaotic neutral god would have a strong chaos aura. Similarly, a neutral good voice of a chaotic good god would only have an aura of good.

Godly Spark: A voice is blessed by their god. A voice has godly sparks equal to their Charisma modifier that they can use to bend their luck. These sparks can be spent after making a check or roll (but before the result is announced) to gain a bonus, as follows:

- Attack rolls: +1
- Caster level checks: +2
- Saving throws: +2
- Skill checks: +3
- Initiative checks: +4

Spent sparks are restored when a god's voice prepares their spells.

Turning or Restraining Creatures: Some god's voices have the power to effect certain creatures (most commonly undead) as a domain power. (See Combat section for details.) These domains and affected creature types are reproduced below for convenience.

- Air: restrain and command air creatures, turn and destroy earth creatures
- Earth: restrain and command earth creatures, turn and destroy air creatures
- Fire: restrain and command fire creatures, turn and destroy water creatures
- Life: turn or destroy undead creatures
- Plant: restrain and command plant creatures
- Undeath: restrain and command undead creatures
- Water: restrain and command water creatures, turn and destroy fire creatures

Spells: A god's voice casts divine spells, which are drawn from the god's voice spell list, as well as those granted by their domains. However, their alignment may restrict them from casting certain spells opposed to their moral or ethical beliefs; see Chaotic, Evil, Good, and Lawful Spells, below. A god's voice must choose and prepare their spells in advance (see below).

To prepare or cast a spell, a god's voice must have a Wisdom score equal to at least 10 + the spell level. The Difficulty Class for a saving throw against a voice's spell is 10 + the spell level + the voice's Wisdom modifier.

Like other spellcasters, a god's voice can cast only a certain number of spells of each spell level per day. Their base daily spell allotment is either 0 or 1 spells per day, per spell level, as indicated on the class progression table. In addition, they receives bonus spells per day if they have a high Wisdom score. When the table indicates that the god's voice gets 0 spells per day of a given spell level, they gain only the bonus spells they would be entitled to based on their Wisdom score for that spell level.

In addition to the stated number of spells per day, a god's voice also gets one or more domain spell slots at each spell level, starting at 1st. The "+1" to "+4" entries on the table represent those spell slots. Only spells granted by the domains can be prepared in these slots, and each domain spell can only be prepared once. Thus, a god's voice with +4 domain slots can and must prepare each domain spell of that level once.

God's voices meditate or pray for their spells. Every god's voice must spend 1 hour each day seeing to their religious rituals in order to regain their daily allotment of spells. Time spent resting has no effect on whether a god's voice can prepare spells. A god's voice may prepare and cast any spell on their spell list, provided that they can cast spells of that level, but they must choose which spells to prepare during this daily meditation.

Spontaneous Casting: A good voice of a god, or a good god's voice, can channel stored spell energy into healing spells that they did not prepare ahead of time. The voice can "lose" any prepared spell (not a domain spell) in order to cast any spell with "cure" in its name of the same spell level or lower.

Likewise, an evil voice of a god, or an evil god's voice, can "lose" their prepared spells and cast any spell with "inflict" in its name of the same spell level or lower.

Lawful neutral voices of lawful neutral gods, or chaotic neutral voices of chaotic neutral gods much decide whether they'll convert to cure spells or inflict spells. Once the choice is made, it cannot be reversed. Neutral voices of neutral gods, on the other hand, can choose to convert to either per each casting, as they see fit.

Chaotic, Evil, Good, and Lawful Spells: A god's voice can't cast spells of an alignment opposed to their own or their deity's (if he has one). Spells associated with particular alignments are indicated by the chaos, evil, good, and law descriptors in their spell descriptions.

For example, a lawful good voice of a lawful neutral god cannot cast Evil spells, while a lawful neutral voice of the same god could. Neither of them could cast Chaotic spells.

Bonus Languages: A god's voice's bonus language options include Celestial, Abyssal, and Infernal (the languages of good, chaotic evil, and lawful evil outsiders, respectively). These choices are in addition to the bonus languages available to the character because of their race.

Leadership: A god's voice gains Leadership as a bonus feat at 6th level, gaining a cohort and followers. These followers are believers of the voice's god.

Extra Spark: At 16th level, a god's voice's sparks increase by 3 thereafter.

Ex-Voices

A god's voice who grossly violates the code of conduct required by their god loses all spells, domains, domain powers, their aura and any bonus feats. They cannot thereafter gain levels as that god's voice until they atone (see the atonement spell description). If they wish to become a new god's voice, usually an established voice of that god puts them to a quest (see the geas/quest spell description) to test their newfound faith.

When a god's voice start speaking for other gods, their followers gained by the Leadership feat depart, on a base ratio of 10% and increased by 20% for each alignment step the new god differs from their original god. For example, if a neutral good god's voice became a different neutral good god's voice, 90% of their followers would remain, but if instead became a neutral evil god's voice, only 50% of them would remain. Their cohort would leave or depart, with a percent chance same as the departure ratio. Due to the influx of followers with god's voices, every religion tries to convert high-level god's voices into their own faith.

If a god's voice simply loses access to divine abilities due to a violation of their god's code, followers and cohorts do not leave unless this fact is made public. If made public, departure ratio/chance is only 5%.

Follower counts are restored by 5% every two months, this time with believers of the new god. Similarly, a new god's voice finds their new cohort in 2 months.
